Hardin-Simmons University and Logsdon Seminary administer a wide-range of scholarships, grants, and fellowships. All students at Logsdon enjoy a reduced tuition rate because of the generosity of donors. Students may also qualify for a wide range of other scholarships and grants that are described below. This financial aid has been made available by HSU, Logsdon Seminary, the Baptist General Convention of Texas, the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship, individuals, and churches. All financial aid is administered through the office of Dr. Omer Hancock, Financial Aid Officer for Logsdon (ohancock@hsutx.edu ; 325.670.1490).

Financial aid and scholarships may vary for Logsdon students at Corpus Christi, Lubbock, and San Antonio. Consult the catalog and student handbook addenda for those campuses.

Baptist General Convention of Texas Ministerial Financial Aid

Through funds from the Cooperative Program of the Baptist General Convention of Texas , Ministerial Financial Aid is available for most Baptist students enrolled in Logsdon Seminary. In the first year of enrollment, a student who has membership with a Baptist church may receive these funds. In order to continue receiving these funds after the first year, a student must be a member of church that is affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas. This scholarship is available to part-time and full-time students. Entering students complete a BGCT Ministerial Financial Aid Church Certification form. After the first year of enrollment, Baptist students complete an annual renewal form. More information about BGCT Ministerial Financial Aid is available from Dr. Omer Hancock's office.

Other Scholarships

Logsdon Seminary has other scholarship funds which may be available to students who meet specific criteria established for particular scholarships. For example, women students anticipating ministry in missions or missions education may be eligible for scholarships provided by the Woman’s Missionary Union; donors sometimes provide scholarships for particular ethnic groups; and at times scholarship funds are available based on student financial need.

Graduate Assistantships

Logsdon grants a number of Graduate Assistantships each year for up to $1200 per semester. Graduate Assistants serve in various roles to assist Logsdon's academic programs under the supervision of Logsdon faculty or staff. An assistantship involves approximately 10 hours of work per week through a fall or spring semester. GA's are required to be full-time students (enrolling in at least 9 hours in a long semester) and are selected based on academic achievement and aptitude for particular tasks. Interested students may apply by completing the application which can be downloaded below.
